

Tour Coimbra and Talasnal

Coimbra: Among the many archaeological structures dating back to the Roman era, when Coimbra was the settlement of Aeminium, are its well-preserved aqueduct and cryptoporticus. Similarly, buildings from the period when Coimbra was the capital of Portugal (from 1131 to 1255) still remain. During the late Middle Ages, with its decline as the political centre of the Kingdom of Portugal, Coimbra began to evolve into a major cultural centre. This was in large part helped by the establishment of the first Portuguese university in Lisbon and its relocation to Coimbra in 1308, making it the oldest academic institution in the Portuguese-speaking world. Apart from attracting many European and international students, the university is visited by many tourists for its monuments and history. Its historical buildings were classified as a World Heritage site by UNESCO in 2013

Talasnal - Nature reigns here. Discovering this village means immersing yourself in the magical world of Serra da Lousã and immersing yourself in lush vegetation where deer, roe deer, wild boar and many other species lurk. The urban fabric is complex, with houses distributed on a slope more oriented to the south (mostly) and another more oriented to the north. The main alley follows the slope of the slope, on a steep path. From it, derive alleys and lanes that create an environment of discovery that everyone likes to explore, waiting for the surprise of a new corner. The predominant construction material is schist, with dark tones, and almost all the facades of the buildings do not have any plaster.
